

Podcast 015: “Marriage and Disciplemaking” (part 1) with Terry and Leah Green

“We decided from the very beginning that love is a choice. We love telling people that 54 years ago we chose the one we love; and, we’ve spent the last 54 years learning to love the one we chose... and that’s day-to-day.” – Leah Green

“We decided from the very beginning that love is a choice. We love telling people that 54 years ago we chose the one we love; and, we’ve spent the last 54 years learning to love the one we chose... and that’s day-to-day,” said Leah Green to us when we asked: “Is there a ‘secret’?!”

The Apprentice Approach Podcast, Episode 015 is part one in our newest series on marriage, family, and disciplemaking!

We had the privilege of talking with Terry and Leah Green who have been happily married for 54 years, are currently in full-time ministry, and hold all kinds of wisdom from their life-experiences in being small business owners, parents, great-grandparents, and of course, following Christ.

They’ve led Marriage GetAway, a marriage retreat at the Glen Eyrie Conference Center for 14 of the retreat’s 25 years and have been on staff with The Navigators since 1995 ...basically, they’re the most humble experts you’ll ever meet!

Join our conversation with Terry and Leah, talking about some really practical ways they’ve found to maintain perspective, continue making disciplemakers, decide who/when to say “yes” (or “no”) to, and (the best part) do it all alongside the love of your life!

P.S. If the idea of ripple-effect discipling is a topic you want to learn more about – or, if you want more resources on the topic of marriage, parenting, and being a discipler – head over to our website www.theapprenticeapproach.org And, if you haven't subscribed to The Apprentice Approach Podcast in iTunes, do it today!
